

Have Your Say on a Possible Devolution Deal for Cambridgeshire and Peterborough

Consultation Starts: 08-Jul-2016

Consultation Ends: 23-Aug-2016

Huntingdonshire residents are being asked to comment on proposals which would see resources, powers and accountability passed down from central government to local authorities. This could mean that more important decisions, on things like housing, transport and major infrastructure projects, are decided locally rather than being imposed by government.

Huntingdonshire District Council wants your views on these proposals, and a public consultation in the form of an online survey consisting of ten questions, has now been launched at

It will be available until Tuesday 23 August. Please take some time to have your say on a devolution deal for Cambridgeshire and Peterborough.

A telephone survey will also be carried out by Ipsos Mori with residents across the district.
